Sheepshead never before knew such a crowd. At noon the lower tier of the three-deck grand stand was crowded. Long before the bugle sounded the first race all three tiers were filled with a mass of moving colors. Women were everywhere, costumed in brilliant gowns, and bedecked with colors. Almost as far as the eye could reach, down over the lawn and through the most as far as the eye could reach, down over the lawn and through the field, was a swaying mass of humanity. Thirty-one horses were carded to go, but Sovereign, Sir Voorheis, Dalesman, Love Note, Royal Summers, Merry Acrobat and Medal were scratched. Bounding Beauty was added at a late moment by the Pepper stable, and a few minutes later withdrawn. There were twenty-four left to fight it out in a contest where only the stoutest hearted might hope to live. The call to saddle was trumpeted at 4 o'clock, and the long, thin line filed out and cantered slowly past the stands. Thirty-one horses were carded to go,

Start Was Very Difficult.

It was difficult work to keep the line straight before the final word. For twenty minutes they see-sawed to and fro. Then came a swish of the flag and a burr of the bell in the judges' box. Instantly there was frenzy among the multitude. There was a sudden flash, and after that a cloud of dust. Lord of the Vale was among the first to break, with Savable and Hurstbourne and Dazzling right at his heels. Fire Eater, with Doggett up, the only one that failed to go, was left standing at the post, half turned around. Though it was a ragged start, it was better than had been expected.

They flew like the wind down the hill, stretched out completely across the track, twenty-three in what seemed to be almost a straight line. Now and then the sharp wind would lift the veil of dust and as they neared the turn those on the outside of the rail and those on the inside closed in, until saddle girths appeared to be touching. Up the hill they came with white-faced boys bending over their necks, ready with whip and spur for the final struggle. The goal was well within sight and McCue began or ride like a flend. The Whitney and cene candidates were pushing him and. Through the cloud of dust every hard. Savable was never thought of. Yet one small group that came from the west had their strained eyes set for a glimpse of turquoise blue that seemed far back in the rear.

His Go With Pedlar Palmer Must Be Square or No Money.

English ring followers are now discussing the merits of George Dixon, the former featherweight champion of this country, and "Pedlar" Palmer, who stood for years at the head of the same class in England, who are to meet in a fifteen-round bout at the National Athletic club, London, on Monday, Sept. 8.

These boys met once before, at Madison Square Garden, on Jan. 39, 1896, and after six rounds of clever tactics the decision was a draw. In the coming contest the seconds will be appointed by the National club, as well as two judges and a referce.

Young Corbett and his trainers, including Manager John, are now comfortably basised in the Price Hill house, on Price hill, near Cincinnati. The champion is delighted with his quarters, and says:

Pittsburg Phil's Big Winning.

If Pittsburg Phil has many more such days as he had at Saratoga one day last week, the "big firm" will not much longer worry the other bookmakers by the amount of money which they handle. On Red Knight, the turt speculator won $21,000 from Joe Ullman, and at least as much more from other operators, while on Skillful, at 8 to 1, he also plunged, and on the day he must have won $60,000 at a moderate estimate.

The Root-Gardner and Hart-Stift contests are used as an excuse to hand the well known sporting authority a little jolt, and the Chicago Record does it beautifully in the following:

"My exclusive story about the McGovern-Corbett match created much talk about Boston, and it ought to. There is no reason why a lot of 'crook' managers should so arrange boxing matches as to skin the sporting public, which is so willing to pay good money to see a good contest. The statement made by Sam Harris on his return from Saratoga only confirms what I say about the managers transferring the contest to Louisville, when it had not been stopped in Connecticut. How about the guarantee money that was said to have been posted by all hands? The outcome shows that the public has been fooled from the start.

We have scored a great scoop. The fight was the hardest ever seen in this city. Just as he went down Houseman looked at Root and said. You are a peach. Root did not answer. That shows that it was a fake. "Ringside, American Athletic Club, Chicago, Aug. 18.—Marvin Hart whipped Billy Stift here tonight in six rounds. It was a fake fight. Before going into the ring Hart said plainly, so that it rould be heard all over the house, that he would whip Stift. This shows plainly that Hart knew in advance what the result of the encounter would be. As Hart won, there can be not only the provided that the doubt not remember to the fact that Gardner won proves conclusively that t the public has been fooled from the start.

"Some men came to me yesterday and asked me if it was not true that the Connecticut authorities were determined not to allow the contest to take place because of something offensive done by the men who were to be associated with Billy Crowley. To this I say emphatically, 'No!' I know that Crowley had been assured that he could go on with the affair under the license by the mayor. This information does not come to me from Crowley. It is from officials of New London.

"Here is Harris' latest statement:

"We had assurances that we could fight in New London and that no attempt would be made by the authorities to interfere until several rounds had been fought, but we did not care to run the risk of leaving ourselves open to criticism for undertaking the task with a probability of interference before the bout was finished. Terry and myself have been so anxious for this return match that we are willing to go to any part of the globe where the chances were that it would not be interfered with.

"I hope Harris does not expect us to believe such rot as the above. Why open to criticism for undertaking the task with a probability of interference before the bout was finished. Terry and myself have been so anxious for this return match that we are willing to go to any part of the globe where the chances were that it would not be interfered with.'

"I hope Harris does not expect us to believe such rot as the above. Why would the authorities stop the contest after it had gone several rounds, and what reason has he to believe that it will go several rounds, when it was a finish contest in two rounds the last time they met? This argument gives us a new line, or—more to the point—the suspicion that the new deal is to have the men go the limit.

"This statement is nothing less than a charge that the New London authorities were willing that the people who would patronize the affair should be duped. Well, that doesn't go. All the funny business about this whole affair is the creation of Sam Harris.

Thinks Clifford's Chances Good. "Biddy" Bishop takes exception to Terry McGovern's offer to back his sparring partner, Eddie Cain, against Jimmy Britt. Bishop feels that Britt will not be as much sought after when his contest with Jack Clifford has been decided. "McGovern may just as well wait until Britt has conquered Clifford before he makes any definite arrangements with him, for you know Jimmy may have a reverse and that would ments with him, for you know Jimmy may have a reverse and that would materially affect his drawing powers," said Bishop. "I am sure Clifford will startle, not only Britt, but the spectators as well. He is a strong young chap with a knockout punch in either hand and is very aggressive and quick as a cat. He has had eleven fights and has won every one of them on a knockout."

Gardner to Meet Sharkey. Gardner to Meet Snarkey. San Francisco, Aug. 30.—Alec Greggains, manager of George Gardner, champion middleweight and light heavyweight boxer of the world, today accepted Sharkey's challenge for a contest. Gardner will bet $2.500 on the side that he can defeat Sharkey. The contest will probably be brought off in this city some time in October. If Gardner defeats Sharkey he will challenge Jeffries, as he is sanguine that he can outpoint the champion.

Eugene Thompson received a tele-gram from Jack Collins, who is now at Great Falls, Mont., offering to meet the local man in a wrestling match. Collins stipulates the match must be for a side bet of $100, winner take all. Thompson said last evening that he would accept the terms and meet the Montana man. The date has been set for Sept. 8 and will be pulled off at the Salt Lake Athletic club.

Going After Chickens.

Will Pishel, W. M. Bradley, J. D. Kendall and Jim Johnson will leave for Park valley this morning on a two days' shooting trip. It is reported that chickens are very plentiful in that locality, and the party proposes to get some of them before returning. Rendall will take his 20 gauge along and show the rest of the party how to do good execution without burning up several drams of extra powder.
